

Contract for The Publication of Electronic University Papers via The Publication Server “ePublications” of TH Köln (University of Applied Sciences)

Name:

First name:

Telephone number:

E-mail:

Faculty/institute:

Nature of work:

Title of work:

The operator of ePublications shall be granted the following right of use by the author:

- the simple, non-exclusive right of use, unrestricted in space and time, the electronic storage of such work on the scientific publication server, the distribution of such work on the internet and the duplication of such work.
- the right to report and to forward information to a long-term archiving body
- the right for technically convert long-term archiving and visualisation respectively, without any alteration of the content.

Due to reasons of scientific citability of a work, any alteration of the publication other than a technical format conversion after the date of publication is not permitted.

The author insures that he or she alone is authorized to dispose over the rights of use on his/her work promoted by copyright. This shall also apply to any other text, illustration or other works submitted by the author and whose rights of use he or she holds. If the author offers the university library any text, illustration or other work to which this does not apply or where it is uncertain if this applies, the university library of TH Köln shall be informed in writing about all recognisable legally relevant facts known to him or her. The author will be liable for the content of his/her publication and indemnifies the university library against any claims brought by third parties.

The university library of TH Köln does not accept any liability whatsoever for the content of the documents.

If several authors shared the writing of a work with another, they are co-authors of such work. Therefore, the publication of such work can only be made upon approval and signature of all authors.

---

place, date

---

signature of first author

---

signature of second author

---

signature of third author

Declaration of consent to the publication of a thesis

I hereby consent to the publication of the above mentioned internet publication via the university server “ePublications“ of TH Köln.

---

place, date

---

reviewer’s signature